

Alèxe Finlay
Harbour management Solutions

After an initial flirtation with law and journalism in London, Alèxe arrived on the Tees 28 years ago, initially to work in public relations for the port. Fate intervened and Harbour Management Solutions was born. Despite working throughout the UK and further afield, the Tees remains "home". The company specialises in port waste management planning, oil pollution response, all aspects of Port Marine Safety Code compliance, and Port Facility Security Officer training, and plan writing. Alèxe has been a part of the Tees and Hartlepool Port Users' Association since 1999, the same year her involvement with seafarers' welfare commenced, and she is also serves on the Tees Estuary Partnership Steering Group.
