Invitation to Exhibit

The UKMPA is proud to be hosting the EMPA conference 2019 at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, Liverpool.

With a programme of presentations designed to inform, inspire and encourage professional debate amongst delegates, the conference will be supplemented with a varied social programme that will provide memorable experiences of Liverpool's many iconic locations including the Cavern club (famed by The Beatles), Anfield football stadium (the home of Liverpool FC) and culminating with a Gala dinner in the spectacular Anglican Cathedral.

As always, the primary purpose of the annual conference is to impart information to the EMPA membership on developments in applicable legislation and regulations, new technologies and operational techniques. It is a unique and focused opportunity for you as an exhibitor to present your range of products and services to an expert audience of pilots and other members the wider maritime community. Delegates also benefit from your particular wealth of specialist knowledge and expertise and everyone attending will have the opportunity to exploit the time to discuss and share with you their challenges and your potential solutions.

The majority of delegates will be EMPA members from throughout Europe (including outside of the EU) with a number of invited guests from various areas of the UK and the wider global maritime

The Gala Dinner is expected to be enjoyed by about 300 EMPA members, invited dignitaries, VIPs and other guests from European and UK shipping and ports industry associations, international representative associations and other maritime interests.

Exhibition space will be available throughout the event with this competitive priced package at £1100 with an early-bird discounted rate of £995 available until 30th November.
